

A CHINESE AGENT
SENT TO JAPAN.SETTLEMENT ON ALMOST ANY TERMS OFFERED.

The Bill Gives Anything Except Territory in China Proper, as Their Naval Power Was Broken in the Two Days' Battle—Earthquakes Cause Italians Misery.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 24.—China has sent an agent to Japan to make terms. They are willing to make any settlement except giving up any territory in China proper.

CHEE FOO, Nov. 24.—Dispatches have been received here saying the Japanese captured Port Arthur Wednesday after eighteen hours' fighting.

The second Japanese army, under the command of Field Marshal Count Oyama, minister of war, consisted of about 30,000 men, and when this force arrived off the Regent's sword promontory it was divided into two detachments, one of which, aided by part of the Japanese fleet, operated against Talienwan, while the other directed its movements against Kinchow, on the western side of the promontory, some miles north of Port Arthur.

Talienwan and Kinchow were both captured, after which the army again combined and the march on Port Arthur was commenced. Several engagements of minor importance took place along the route, but according to the reports the Japanese were invariably successful. The roads leading northward from Port Arthur were supposed to have been mined by the Chinese, and the Japanese commander therefore decided not to take the risk of marching his troops along them. Consequently they were compelled to cut roads through the forests to allow the passage of their artillery and ammunition trains. Several times the town is reported to have been captured, but later dispatches have shown that these reports were inaccurate and the Japanese were conducting their operations against the place with great carelessness and saving their strength for the real attack.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 24.—News received here confirms the reports of the capture of Port Arthur. These reports say the Japanese torpedo boats distracted the forts while the troops entered the town.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A dispatch to the Times from Chee Foo says Port Arthur was taken Wednesday evening. The fighting was continuous from noon Tuesday. The Japanese fleet did not take part in the engagement, though the torpedo boats attached to the fleet did. The Japanese are now leaving Port Arthur. Chee Foo, from which place the dispatch announcing the fall of Port Arthur comes, is a Chinese city on the north coast of Shantung promontory, some ninety miles south of Port Arthur, from which it is separated by the Gulf of Pe-Chi-Li.

It is reported the Viceroy of Nankin, Chang Chio Tung, has been ordered to Peking for the purpose of reorganizing the army after the European model.

HOMELESS BY EARTHQUAKES.

Fifty Thousand Persons About Reggio Destitute.

ROME, Nov. 24.—Dispatches received here from Reggio say there are 50,000 persons in that district who have been rendered homeless by the earthquakes. Many bodies were upheaved in the cemetery of San Procopio at the time it was disturbed by the earthquakes and a number of bodies remain in sight and will have to be reinterred. Horrible scenes have been witnessed in the stricken districts, where numbers of people have been wounded and several horribly maimed. Some of the sufferers had limbs torn off, which caused their death before they could be removed from the streets. The military and volunteers of all classes of the inhabitants are working with energy building huts and providing food for those who are most in want. Slight earthquakes and subterranean rumblings continue to be felt at Maliazzo, Sicily, where the inhabitants are still terror stricken.

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—The semi-official North German Gazette says the anti-revolutionary bills which were referred yesterday by the Bundesrath to a committee will probably take precedence over all other bills in the reichstag. The Vorwaerts, the socialist organ, publishes an article, evidently emanating from Herr Liebknecht, expressing regret at being compelled to declare against Herr Bebel's attitude in the recent dispute that is said to have caused a serious breach between the north and south German social democrats.

LIST OF MEMBERS
IS NOT YET MADETHE CLERK OF THE HOUSE
GOES SLOW.

The Richardson Belknap Muddle Is Still Far From Settled—In This Case the Officer of Congress Showed Himself Clothed with Power—Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—An erroneous impression has gone out that the clerk of the house of representatives has prepared an official list of members of the Fifty-fourth congress. This he has not done and would not be able to do if so disposed, for the reason that official returns have so far been received from only two districts of the 356, these being the two Oregon districts. It is not expected that certificates of election will in any large number be placed with the clerk before the convening of the short session and the probabilities are that all the certificates will not be on file for some time after that date. But even if certificates should be filed representing all the districts of the entire country the clerk would not in this instance probably be disposed to issue an official roll call of the next congress before the expiration of the present. An official in the clerk's office to-day expressed the opinion that the completion of this list will be delayed until March 4 as a matter of precaution and he gave as a reason for this caution the possibility of error or of complications similar to those presented in the impending contest of Belknap vs. Richardson for the seat from the Fifth Michigan district. In this instance Mr. Richardson, who was voted for as democratic candidate for the Forty-third congress, presented his credentials to the clerk Dec. 22, 1892, and his name was duly enrolled as that of a member of the house. Feb. 20, following, Mr. Belknap presented credentials signed as had been Mr. Richardson's by the state officers, certifying that Belknap and not Richardson had been elected. Having recognized the Richardson certificates the clerk was powerless to undo the act, if he had been so inclined, and as the house has so far declined to reverse the action, Mr. Richardson still remains the sitting member. Indeed, the circumstances proved to be such that Mr. Belknap was unable without the adoption of a special resolution to inaugurate a contest proceedings. Such a resolution was adopted, and the merits of the two sets of credentials will constitute one of the interesting questions which the house will be called upon to dispose of at the forthcoming session. It should be explained that there was a change of administration in Michigan between the time the Richardson certificate was issued and the time the Belknap certificate was issued, republican state officials succeeding democratic state officials, Richardson receiving his certificate from the democrats and Belknap from the republicans. A new canvas had been made under the order of the Supreme court of the state and it was upon the results so ascertained that the Belknap certificate was issued. The simple action of the clerk has been more potent, however, than the whole machinery, political and executive, of the state of Michigan in deciding the merits of the contest. The case is so fresh in the minds of the house officials that they are now disposed to act with caution, and not to prepare the official roll until it becomes necessary to enter the names of the new members for the purpose of paying their salaries, which will begin March 4. The list which has now been prepared is therefore entirely unofficial, the names being gathered from all authentic sources, and is only for the convenience of members.

CHANGE IS COMING
FOR THE BETTERSOSAYS R. J. DUN'S WEEKLY
TRADE REPORT.

Its Movement, While Slow, is Equally Distinct, and Skilled Labor Is Being More Largely Employed, with a Better Call for the Result of Their Work.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

"There is some change for the better. The gain is slow and in some directions not very distinct, but the signs of it are a little more definite than last week. The most important of them is larger employment of labor, assuring a better demand on the whole for manufactured products. Much of this is due to the unnatural delay of orders for the winter which resulted from prolonged uncertainty, but it means an actual increase in the earnings and purchasing power of the millions, and so gives promise of a larger demand in the future. Prices of farm products in the aggregate do not improve, but the hopefulness is felt in somewhat larger transactions.

"The wheat market has lost this week what it gained last week, receipts being larger, and Atlantic exports were also larger—576,771 bushels against 703,026 last year—but these are of small account compared with the great visible supply. Foreign reports this week have been rather more promising, though the fact remains that the world's crop outside the United States is probably the largest ever grown. Corn has declined half a cent, receipts having much increased. The foreign demand for cotton continues large, exports being 50,000 bales larger than for the same week last year, but receipts also continue greater than a year ago, and for three months will closely approximate those of the same three months, when the yield was over 9,000,000 bales. But the price rose an eighth.

"Textile industries have added a few factories to the working list against only one or two withdrawn, and there has been some improvement in the demand for woollens. Yet on the whole the market is not active and the manufacture is much below the capacity of the works.

"The iron industry again records lower prices for Bessemer iron, $10.40 at Pittsburgh, and for some manufactured products. The consumption is large and for this reason fairly well maintained, but as it is not equal to the capacity of the works in operation their struggle to get business keeps prices at the bottom. Tin, copper and lead are all weaker and some concessions are reported in tinplates. The coke product slightly decreases, but was about the largest ever known for October. The failures this week have been 322 in the United States, against 385 last year and 31 in Canada, against 34 last year."

TALKS OF A PLUNDERED FUND

Howe's Request of the Indiana Supreme Court in Iron Hall Case Honored.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 24.—Daniel Waite Howe, attorney for the defendants in the Iron Hall litigation, has filed a petition before the Supreme court protesting against the indulgence shown by the court to the attorney for appellees and the permission allowed them to take the papers off the files and keep them. The petition concludes as follows: "If what the daily papers report is true the fund in controversy has been plundered in open court in the court below while this appeal has been hanging fire here, but there is still, it seems, over $700,000 in cash in the hands of the receiver, which is worth saving for my clients. I again insist that this court order the papers returned to the files, and ask that it keep them until the appeal is decided." The Supreme court ordered the papers returned on or before Monday, Nov. 26.

The boat had come safely through the fog which overhung North river until close to the entrance of the company's slip, when a tugboat loomed up ahead, and in order to avoid a collision the wheelsman changed his course. Police Officer Quirk, who was on duty at the entrance to the ferry, heard the crash and the cries of the panic-stricken passengers. He jumped into a boat and rowed alongside, where he saw a number of persons clinging to the broken woodwork and rails. The after cabin was badly wrecked, but fortunately only four of the passengers needed medical aid. Their names are: L. H. Robelata, manager of the Equitable Life Insurance company, scalp wound; Frank Olthaus, laborer, Hoboken, cut on right hand; J. C. FIRST LEAF RAISED WITH HARD WORK.

MANY DIFFICULTIES BESET MR. POMEROY'S VENTURE.

The First Flimsy Shed Succumbed to the First Snow Storm and the Crop Was Never Paid For—Early History of the Business Recalled By Mr. Pomeroy's Death.

The death of Ralph Pomeroy which took place at his home in Fulton last week, recalls to mind the history of pioneer tobacco growing in the west. The name of Pomeroy is intimately connected with the introduction of tobacco as a farm product, not only in Wisconsin but in the Miami Valley of Ohio as well. As long ago as 1838 Ralph Pomeroy and his brother raised the first crop of Connecticut seed leaf tobacco ever grown in Wayne township in the Miami Valley, Ohio, from seed brought with them when they emigrated from Connecticut. The farm on which he was reared at Sutherland had grown tobacco for many years prior to his removal to Ohio and it was but natural when they came into the Miami Valley that they began to introduce it as a field crop. Thus the beginning of cigar leaf tobacco growing in Ohio was made which later extended until it became a general crop over several counties of the state. It is over forty years since the Pomeroy introduced cigar leaf tobacco into the state, but Ohio still stands prominent among the seed leaf producers.

First Raised Under Difficulties.

It was not until fifteen years later that tobacco growing was first introduced to Wisconsin soil by Ralph Pomeroy. In 1853 he emigrated to this state and that year grew a six acre crop of tobacco on the prairie near Syene, Dane county on land owned by the Heistands. While the crop was growing, lumber for the shed was hauled from the Wisconsin river 40 miles away. The frame of the shed was made of poles, cut in the timber near at hand, and when completed was rather a weak and flimsy affair. Soon after the crop was harvested, in a heavy rain and wind storm the shed and crop went down in a heap. The tobacco stalks had been looped with strings across poles which was the usual method of hanging the tobacco in the sheds at that time, so that the inextricable intertwinement of tobacco, string and poles was disheartening to contemplate. But the neighbors turned out and helped reconstruct the wreck so that the crop was finally secured and cured out. There was no market here for the stuff when it was ready to sell, but the tobacco was disposed of to a Janesville man for four cents a pound, who failed soon after, and did not even pay the agreed price. This in brief is a history of the first tobacco crop grown in Wisconsin, and the disappointments that surrounded the venture was enough to discourage anyone except a man like Mr. Pomeroy who had been brought up in the business from boyhood.

Family Were All Raisers.

The very next year in 1854, the Pomeroy brothers, Ralph, Orrin and William, settled on farms in the town of Fulton, two miles south of Edgerton, and began to cultivate tobacco as a field crop and have raised it on their farms their ever since. The first year a ten acre field was planted and no season since that date has there been scarcely less grown, while some years the aggregate acreage of Ralph and Orrin Pomeroy has been very close to 100 acres. These brothers grew tobacco long before it became a general crop in the state. Even in 1870 the entire production in the state did not exceed 1,000 acres. But ten years later there were 13,000 acres grown and in 1890 more than twice that amount. Of course in the early days of tobacco growing there was no market here for the product and the cured leaf had to be sent outside of the state to sell, sometimes to New York and even to an export market. As soon as the production reached a few hundred acres however, eastern buyers began to come into the state and eventually a home market was established. To the Pomeroy family, says the Edgerton Reporter, in closing, belongs the credit of introducing tobacco growing in Wisconsin which is now yielding a revenue of over two million dollars a year to the farmers of Wisconsin.

W. C. T. U. OFFICERS ELECTED

Mrs. C. A. Hunt Made President and Mrs. J. L. Ford Secretary.

The Janesville branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union elected officers yesterday as follows: President—Mrs. C. A. Hunt. Vice President—Mrs. M. G. Hodge. Treasurer and Secretary—Mrs. J. L. Ford.

Mrs. Eliza F. Yates was appointed a committee on literature for lumbermen's camps, and an interesting report of the district meeting held at Elkhorn, was read by her. It was voted to petition the Agricultural Society to allow no liquor selling at the fair.

SMALL BOY SHOT A BIG COON

Henry Pierce Aged 9 Years, Killed One at Lake Koshkong.

Many Janesville duck sportsmen who go to "Pierces" to shoot ducks will read with interest that Henry Pierce, the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierce was out hunting and finding a coon up a tree shot it with a rifle. The coon fell to the ground and engaged in a tussle with the dog. Young Pierce watching for an opportunity, sent one or two more bullets into his victim which settled the contest. The coon weighed seventeen pounds.

ODDITIES CUT FROM EXCHANGES

Easy to Get "Flick."

The new store at Richmond "is running on time and under republican administration."

A Big But Cheap Blow Out.

The Troy Center Ladies' Aid society "did better than they expected at the church fair as gross receipts were $1.27."

Liable to Get Frost Bitten.

Old settlers at Walworth say that "never before in their day was so many people caught in the jaws of winter as during the present fall."

Stole Mr. Waite's Valuables.

By the blowing up of the safe by burglars at Kingsley & Stokes on Sunday night, at Elkhorn, L. H. Waite of Darien "lost his fur mittens and neck scarf."

Hicken Pie Made Them Giddy

Fontana people were "routed with yells which might be an alarm of fire but only proved to be a load of our most sedate neighbors returning from a chicken pie social at Walworth."

Honest Thieves Fare Poorly.

The past week "has been a poor one for those who depend on stealing for their living" at Walworth. One respectable farmer was astonished to find his own eatables taken from his place by "a most trustworthy person."

Some More of the Story

But not much. We shall from day to day give you more light regarding our plans, but of this rest assured we are going to give home-seekers such opportunities as were never before offered.

East Riverview park is by long odds the best property in Janesville for the money at which you can buy a home site there. We are going to make it so desirable that a year from today there will not be a lot for sale in that addition. In the first place, the lots every one of them are 4 by 10 rods in size or larger, and every lot has alleys behind them. Secondly, every lot has artesian water. Thirdly, the property will be better lighted than any other part of the city.

April 1st, 1895, we shall again be burning in East Riverview Park twelve lights. Fourthly and not least, we shall run a line of wagonettes from our new house and barn on the extreme east lot of the addition to corner of Main and Milwaukee streets, every half hour at same rate as we formerly ran our "Bus". These wagonettes will be fine six-seat rigs that will not only be easy and comfortable, but will be beautiful to the eye. The Janesville Carriage Company promise us the first one by January 1, when we shall start it and add to the line just as fast as the wants of the public demand. We are bound to make the East Riverview Park home sites so desirable that people will seek them, and before you know it the whole of them, forty in all, will be sold and built upon. We have a lot of plans to make this property desirable, and now as ever we are, yours very truly

Geo. L. A. JAMES H. JANESVILLE.

CITY CAN'T AFFORD TO LET IT DISBAND

BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION IS VALUABLE.

Great Deal of Good Work Has Been Done by the Organization, and Janesville People Would Feel the Effect of Its Death Very Keenly.

The Business Men's Association, that for the past seven or eight years has been recognized as one of the best promoters of business interests in the city, has felt the pressure of hard times to such an extent that the officers and directors are at a loss to determine whether it is best to try and continue the organization or close the rooms, and disband. That the association has been a benefit to the city in promoting new enterprises, is generally conceded. It has done more than this, for it has put the city in touch with the outside world, by furnishing a medium of communication. The rooms of the association have always been open, giving an opportunity to welcome visitors, entertain committees, and in various ways promote the interests of the city. More than this, the association has gained recognition throughout the northwest as one of the substantial representatives of the Bower City.

The social features are also of importance. They place the business men of the city in closer relation and promote a friendly feeling that is always commendable.

The sharpest competition and the most animated rivalry is forgotten in an evening of social intercourse. In the struggle for success and prosperity the contact with men of like surroundings outside of business hours tends to knock off rough corners and adjust differences of opinions in a way that is always helpful.

There is every reason why the Business Men's Association should continue to live and prosper.

The dues, six dollars per year, are paid semi annually. F. C. Hazelton is attending to the collecting, and if the present membership of something over one hundred will respond promptly the liabilities can be steadily met.

The Gazette believes that the business men of Janesville will encourage the association by coming to its support in the time of need.

FOREST PARK CAR SMALL BUT GOOD

Many People Wonder Why the Other Three Are Not Fixed Up.

The small car on the Forest Park division of the street railway is giving general satisfaction to the patrons of the road, and a number of people are asking why Superintendent Proudfoot does not refit the other three small ones with motors and put them in service, thus making more frequent trips and better accommodating the public.

"DANGEROUS HEALTH."

One of Oliver Wendell Holmes' Happy Phrases.

The Great Poet Applied it to William Cullen Bryant.

The Boston Herald Says It Fits the Case of a Great Many People.

In a recent editorial, the Boston Herald in speaking of our great poet, Oliver Wendell Holmes' happy phrase applied to William Cullen Bryant at the recent commemoration of the latter's birthday, says: "'Dangerously good health' fits the case, of a great many people, young and old, who trust to their strong constitutions, and wear themselves out before they know it. This accounts for the fact that so many people in robust health are cut down, while those who are less vigorous live on by recognizing their own weakness."

No words are truer. The sick as a rule, take care of themselves and know enough to use medicine when necessary. It is the person in robust health, who by overwork, strain upon the nerves or dissipation, gets just a little out of order, has headaches, becomes nervous and irritable, is unable to sleep well, and wakes tired mornings, with dull feeling head, constipation, no appetite for breakfast, and a general feeling of lassitude weakness, and lack of ambition to take hold of work, is in a dangerous way. Such a person has presumed upon a good constitution, and undermined the health. The right medicine must be had and taken at once, or the apparently trivial symptoms will quickly result in utter breaking down.

A well known lady, Mrs. F. E. Morgan, who resides at 177 Austin St. Worcester, Mass., gives a wonderful experience and some valuable advice.

MRS. F. E. MORGAN.

"My nerves were so weak, and I was so very nervous that I could not sleep nights. I would get up in the morning feeling so weak and tired with loss of appetite and constipation of the bowels."

"I gradually grew worse until life almost seemed a burden, and at last I had nervous prostration. I felt too bad for anything, had no strength and no ambition."

"My sister advised me to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and I did so. After taking four bottles, I am happy to say that all my troubles disappeared, and I cannot say enough of this wonderful medicine."

"I have lots of friends who can also testify to its great merits. It therefore behooves all who are not feeling well, or who are run down in health, in fact, who are out of order in any way, to use this grand medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy at once. It will make you well and strong."

It is not a patent medicine, but the discovery and prescription of the well-known Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th Street, New York City, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted by all without charge, personally, or by letter.

ROBBERS DID WELL IN A MILTON STORE

DUNN, BOSS & COMPANY LOSE ABOUT $200.

Burglars Bored Holes About the Lock Cutting It Out So that They Could Reach In And Throw the Bolts—Silk Handkerchiefs and Clothes the Chief Plunder.

Burglars made a good haul at Milton last night, securing $200 worth of silk handkerchiefs, mufflers, clothing and hats from the store of Dunn, Boss & Company. The thieves gained an entrance by cutting the lock out of the door in the rear of the store and reaching through the hole, unbolted the lower fastening. The bolt at the top was then forced, and the thieves were inside. When the store was opened this morning the stock was found tumbled about and Mr. Boss said this morning when he came down to see the police, that it was hard for him to tell just what the loss was, but he thought it would reach $200 or perhaps more. Postal cards and telegrams were sent in all directions, under the direction of Chief Acheson.

"Thieves seem to think they can come to Milton and take anything they want," said Mr. Boss, "but we are going to catch them if we can."

TRIBUTE TO WILLIAM H. BRACE

Michigan Tradesman Publishes His Portrait and a Sketch.

A tribute to W. H. Brace, a former Janesville man, is paid by the Michigan Tradesman, a weekly journal published at Grand Rapids, Michigan. A fine portrait goes with the article, which says Mr. Brace was the energetic head of the wholesale grocery house of Phelps, Brace & Company. Mr. Brace was educated in Janesville, the article continues, in the celebrated academy of that town, and after settling in Grand Rapids, entered the employ of the firm of which he is now the head, as a porter. Step by step he was elevated until the war broke out Mr. Phelps the senior partner went to the front, returning shattered in health. In 1861 Mr. Brace was given an interest in the concern and made manager, which position he has since held. Mr. Brace is a director in the Michigan Mutual Life Insurance Company, of the Michigan Wire and Iron Works, of the German-American Bank and of the State Bank of Carson City. He is also the president of the City Savings Bank of Detroit and for fifteen years he was a director of the Y. M. C. A. and the St. Clair Fishing Club, besides holding membership in the Masonic Order and the Detroit club. The article ends with this paragraph:

"As a business man Mr. Brace is universally honored and admired in the city for his adoption and thoroughness of the state and his name is a synonym for honesty and integrity wherever he is known. As a conversationalist he is peculiarly gifted, and this coupled with great geniality and heartiness of manner makes William H. Brace one of the pleasantest of companions and a visit with him a pleasant memory."

are not enough. We mean every day to add to them by better doing. Too much bright wit is being turned to efforts to reduce grades of work and quality of goods---and keep up appearances. There is now playing in Paris a Russian horn band, each horn being capable of producing a single note only. So perfect is the training that the band produces the effect of one equipped with ordinary instruments. Some pupils of the Polytechnic school, Paris, met with a singular adventure. They were detained at school for some misdemeanor and hit upon the idea of making their escape by a subterranean trap door, which led to the sewers, where they lost their way and whence, after nearly twenty-four hours, they had finally to be rescued.

You Deserve a Good Shaking. And chills and fever will give it if you don't take defensive measures to escape the periodic scourge in a region where it is prevalent. The best safeguard and remedy is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is free from any objections applicable to quinine, and is infinitely more effective. Wherever on this continent and in the tropics malarial complaints are virulent and general, the Bitters is the recognized specific and preventive. It does not mitigate, but eradicates chills and fever, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake. For rheumatism, inactivity of the kidneys and bladder, for constipation, biliousness and nerve inquietude it is of the greatest efficacy. And the unsolicited testimony in its behalf of medical men leave no reasonable doubt that it is one of the most reliable family medicines in existence. Use it continually, and by fits and starts.

HALF a pint of camphor came near ending the life of Mrs. George Smith at noon today. Mrs. Smith is an inmate of the jail since her husband was taken to the soldiers' home. She has a dying love for liquor and opium, which has been denied her at the jail. She succeeded today in getting a half-pint of camphor, under a plea of having a headache and drank the camphor for the alcohol it contained. Dr. Joe B. Whiting made a quick run to the jail in answer to a summons that a prisoner had swallowed a dose of poison, and administered antidotes in time to save her life.

THE evangelistic services which commence in this city on Tuesday, December 4, are to be unusually attractive. In addition to the evangelist, who is a man of wide reputation and unusual experience, is added the quartet which is composed of gentlemen who are every one thorough musicians and besides all this, the whole force is under the direction of one of our own citizens, Rev. R. L. Cheney, a man whose family before him, as well as himself are held in the very highest esteem and confidence of everyone, and whose reputation is not only local but who is known throughout the state and a man whose labors speak for themselves. The conditions for the services are certainly auspicious.

FEARED THE WATER WOULD BE CUT OFF

SUCH WAS THE GROUNDS FOR ASKING FOR A RECEIVER.

Mayor Thoroughgood's Affidavit as Filed, Set Forth Many Facts of Interest—Company Are Getting Ready To Fight the Order Taking the Management From Them.

The water fight is beginning to be a fight and no mistake. Now that the city has succeeded in getting a receiver appointed, the company are preparing to begin proceedings, probably Monday, to compel the city to show why the order appointing a receiver should not be revoked.

This is the declaration of Attorney E. M. Hyzer who, represents the corporation. Mr. Hyzer was reluctant to speak about the matter, but said that the appointment of a receiver was an unheard of proceeding. He did not believe the company had any idea of shutting off the water supply, as such a proceeding would be suicidal, and he did not believe Mr. Maxcy ever entertained it. There was a way to prevent without a receiver. Every stockholder and director was a resident of Wisconsin and they could have been reached by injunction proceedings and the management left in the company's hands.

Mr. Hyzer was asked how long it would require to settle the matter in the courts, and the answer was that in case the action progressed fairly well a definite result might be reached in five years.

The appointment of a receiver was a surprise to the Water company, as they had had no intimation that any further attempt would be made until the present action had been settled in court.

"Mr. Maxcy is an experienced water works man," said Mr. Hyzer, "he now having the management of the Oshkosh plant, also the plant at Washburn, and I think he is better qualified to manage the plant than one who has had no experience."

It is generally understood that the appointment of a receiver will not necessitate the making of any changes in the working force of the company. That instead of Superintendent Mitchell receiving his instructions from Manager Maxcy he will now obey Receiver Sutherland, and that water will continue to flow through the mains just the same.

What The Affidavit Said.

It was upon the grounds as set forth in the affidavit of Mayor Thoroughgood that Judge Bennett yesterday appointed George G. Sutherland as receiver of the Janesville Water company. After stating that he is mayor of the city, etc., and that the city of Janesville is plaintiff and the Janesville Water Company; the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company as trustee, and the Wisconsin Construction Company are defendants Mr. Thoroughgood set forth that he is informed and believes that the city of Janesville has the right to purchase the plant at the actual cost thereof, as provided in the franchise; that the earnings have more than paid the interest on the actual cost; that the bonded indebtedness upon the works exceeds by many thousand dollars the actual cost of the works and the extensions; that the nominal capital stock is $200,000 but of that no part has ever been paid in; that the persons who subscribed are non-residents of the state; that the additional bonded indebtedness over the actual cost is a liability against the company; that the company has no assets other than the plant; that if the plant is taken by the city at the actual cost, the company would have no assets with which to pay such additional liability upon its bonded indebtedness; that the company is, to all intents and purposes insolvent at this time, and that the said defendant, for the purpose of preventing the city from prosecuting the action begun, threatens to shut off the fire protection of said city; that officers of the company and stockholders have expressed themselves as being in favor of forcing the city to abandon the action by shutting off the water supply of the city as the ordinance requires.

Property Would Be In Danger.

It further sets forth that the city has disposed of its fire apparatus other than what is used in connection with the water works; that millions of dollars in property is thereby exposed, and that there is danger that the company will refuse to furnish water, to the great danger of these interests.

The action is brought, it states, to get at the cost of the plant, and the city is entitled to fire protection during the progress of the suit. It also states that they can readily fail to provide the money to run the works if an injunction was granted, to prevent the shutting off the water; and that the court should require them to be run in that event. The only practicable way, it sets forth, to protect the city and the company is by appointing a receiver. It further sets forth that the actual cost is less than $150,000, whereas the company ask $400,000 or more.

After hearing the petition the court appointed Mr. Sutherland, who accepted and qualified, giving a bond of $50,000.

This is an important step in the litigation. Mr. Sutherland becomes the sole manager of the water plant, accountable for his management only to the court. Mr. Jeffris was seen by a Gazette reporter this morning, and said:

"It was deemed the best move to make under the circumstances. It had been reported that the company would cut off the water supply in case of fire. Now there need be no fears. Mr. Sutherland notwithstanding the fact that he is secretary of the company, and a stockholder in the company, is also a large property owner in Janesville and has large interests in the city. Therefore I say he is just the man to manage the company. The city need have no fears of him, and most certainly the water company ought to be satisfied."

OUR ONLY DAY.

Were this our only day,
Did not our yesterday and tomorrow give
To hope and memory their interplay.
How should we bear to live?

Not merely what we are,
But what we were and what we are to be,
Make up our life, the near days each a star,
The far days nebulae.

At once would love forget
Its keen pursuits and joys delays of bliss
And its delicious pangs of fond regret
Were there no day but this.

And who, to win a friend,
Would to the secrets of his heart invite
A friendship that should begin and end
Between a night and night?

—Gates Kinney in Cincinnati Tribune.

COWBOY AND CORSET.

"I just wish yo' had never went to Dallas. I wish yo' staid here on the ranch an' kep' on a bein' yer own self, instead o' driftin' off the range to the city an' a makin' a play to be a high toned leddy. Yo' ain't like yo' used to be, Cassie."

There was a scowl on the cowboy's face as he stood before Cassie Denton, the daughter of the owner of the Texas ranch at which he was employed. The face of the bright eyed little maiden wore a pained look as she toyed with the buckskin wrist loop which depended from the handle of the six shooter in his belt.

"I knowed jest how it would be," he continued. "When yer pop got the notion into his head that yo' must be educated an' be a leddy, I tol him it'd spile yo'. I tol him yo' never would be the same gal no mo'; that yer little head'd git turned there among the fine stock, an' yo' wouldn't have no mo' use for graded critters such as the riders o' the ranges."

"But Bob," the girl interrupted, "I am not changed in my feelings toward yo'. I love yo' just as well as I did the day pop said I could marry yo', an' he sent me to school for two years just to make me fit to be yer wife. It was all for yer sake, Bob, an' it's real bad of yo' to act so after I had studied so hard to make of myself a lady worthy of such a man as yo'. I know I'm not like I used to be. I am not rough and wild like I was once. I dress better, and I talk better. It's refinement, Bob—that's what Miss Bentley, the teacher, said, an' she said that a girl without refinement was just a wart on the face of society. That's just what she said, Bob, in her own words, an' I feel like crying at the way yo' act."

"I'd a whole lot rather see yo' a good healthy wart on the face of society than to see yo' a dab o' bright paint on one o' its cheeks, or a string o' no 'count beads a-hangin' 'bout its neck. Count is fur them that lives in cities, Cassie, an' jest as much out o' place in here on the ranch as a cheap herdin' greaser'd be out o' place in glory. I'd never believed it of yo', Cassie, that yo'd come back here with yer foretop curled up in a bunch an' a corset cinched round yo'. I wouldn't, I s'w'r I wouldn't. No woman kin make a rancher a good wife that wears a fashion pack saddle an' bunches up her mane like yours is bunched. I mout git over the curl business in time, but I ain't never going to have no wife that'll cinch herself up so's she can't breathe below!"

With a scream of laughter the girl placed her hand over his mouth and checked his further speech.

"Oh, Bob, Bob, yo' naughty boy! Is it my poor little corset that has come between us to ward off yer love? Oh, I must laugh, for it's really the funniest thing I ever heard of! Why, Bob, I could never live without a corset. It is such a support and comfort, and yo' know, yo' wicked boy, that my figure is much prettier than it was before I went to Dallas. Isn't it now?"

She placed her hands against her waist and waltzed saucily around so that he could inspect her neat form.

"No, 'tain't. 'Tain't free an' easy, like God intended it should be. If he'd 'a' wanted yo' pinched up like yo' are now, he'd 'a' built yo' that way. There'd be jest as much sense in cinchin' up cows to make 'em look purty. Yo'd laugh yer eyes out to see a cow going around here with corsets on, an' yo' hear me, it's jest as ridiculous for a gal to do it. I'm agoin to roundup the ranges for a gal 'at's got more savvy than to wear sich monstrosities, 'r else I never will double up in maternity long as I live. Thow 'em away, Cassie, or yo' an' me won't be nothin' much to each other no mo'."

"Bob, I won't make a fool of myself for a little senseless whim such as yours. I'll wear what I please, and if it don't exactly meet with yer ideas of propriety yo' can go and roundup a girl that's willing to put up with yer non sense."

The little girl was angry now, and with a spiteful frown of her skirts she turned from him and went into the house. Her anger was like a passing summer cloud, and when in a few moments it had spent itself she ran to her room, and throwing herself on the bed burst into tears. She knew Bob Taylor loved her dearly, and rough and uneducated as he was she almost worshipped the handsome young cowboy. She would gladly have consigned the offending article of dress to the waters of the Brazos, which ran near the house, but she could not for a moment countenance such an unreasonable whim on Bob's part, and with set teeth and clenched hands she vowed that if her lover took her to wife the corset must be included in the inventory of her personal effects.

Days sped by, and Bob passed and repassed her about the house seemingly as oblivious of her presence as if she were a thousand miles away. Only once did he notice her, when in malicious desperation at his coldness, she asked: "Ain't yo' never going to make up Bob?"

"Not till yo' skin off that infernal pack saddle," was the surly reply.

Their lovers had been a fruitless and never stale topic of conversation among the pupils of Miss Bentley's select school for girls in Dallas, and in all their confidential chats Cassie had heard of but one effective method of whipping a recalcitrant lover back into the traces, "Flirt with some other fellow." Her only fear was that if she should try the experiment Bob might lose control of his temper and shoot the other fellow, and as a result he might be locked up for a long time in a cheerless prison, and the marriage be necessarily postponed until the misdeed was atoned for. The judge might be a cruel monster with no sympathy for young lovers and might send him into retirement for years, and she might become a wrinkled or calumined old maid before he again breathed the air of freedom.

That would be terrible. But pshaw! Bob would never be so foolish as to put out a human light for one little girl in a country literally running over with the prettiest girls in America. Not he. Anyhow she would risk it, and if Ben Allison of the Diamond O ranch came around and made eyes at her again, as he had done on several occasions, she would encourage him just the least bit, and then, when Bob recovered from the fit of temporary insanity into which her corset had thrown him and came to her in a penitent mood, she would throw herself into his dear arms and tell him that she never did, never would and never could love any one but him. Of course he would forgive her and kiss her tears away, and the sun of love would again burst forth and shine over them with new and exquisite lustre.

Ben Allison's heart became real unruled when at his next visit to the Denton ranch Cassie met him with a welcoming smile, extended her pretty little hand and permitted him to hold it quite a little while after he had got through shaking it. After this gratifying reception his visits increased in frequency, and although, with great feminine tact, the girl kept his ardor within proper bounds she did not repulse him, and it soon became noised about among the riders of the ranges that "Ben was sure going to pitch a matrimonial rope at Cassie Denton, an' the little therebred'd soon pack his brand."

Bob noted all this, and his heart was filled with bitterness toward his supposed rival. He never cast the look of recognition upon Cassie, yet when he would see her moving about the house or corals or galloping about the range on her pretty little pinto pony it began to dawn upon him that her corseted form was indeed far neater than that of any girl on all the ranges of the Brazos. After a time he was ready to swear that he had never seen anything one-half so handsome as that neat, graceful figure, and the uncensored girls of his acquaintance seemed almost frightful in his eyes when he gazed upon their loose, dumpy forms. He began to harbor the impression that he had made a very pronounced fool of himself, but his stubborn nature asserted itself. He had said the corset must go, and go it must.

"That's a way up on top gal sence she got back from Dallas, ain't she, Bob?" Allison said to him one day, when they met in the corral of the Denton ranch.

"Yo' don't want to make no funny plays about that gal when I'm around," Bob hotly replied.

"I hain't never yit found out that it makes any difference who's around or who ain't around when I want to make a talk play," retorted Allison.

"Some things gits found out mighty sudden, Ben Allison, an' this ain't goin to be fur from one o' 'em. I want to tell yo' right now, an' to holler it out plain, too, that yo' are a nosin around this ranch too plenty o' late instead of ridin' yer own ranch, an' I ain't agoin to stand it no mo'."

"Mebbe yo' wouldn't mind tellin me what business it is o' yours whar I ride. Long as the gal's throwed yo' to one side yo' ain't got no say as to other fellers pitchin a rope at her."

"Yer a liar when yo' say she's throwed me, an' yo' know it, an' yo' want to hit the Diamond O trail right now, or yo' an' me's agoin to bump together pow'ful hard. Jest top that hoss o' yours an' work him lively away from here, or a calamity's agoin to occur right quick."

"Yo' talk mighty brave for a castoff shoe, Bob Taylor, an' yo' can't begin the bampin business any too quick to suit me, yo' poor, worthless sneak."

That was the limit. The two men, their eyes blazing with anger, backed away from each other, drawing their six shooters as they went. The guns were thrown into position for combat just as a slight girlish form darted around the corner of the adobe stable and sprang in front of Taylor. Allison's pistol rang out before he noted the presence of the girl, and with a scream of pain she fell senseless to the ground. The man who had fired the shot fled in terror, and Bob bent over his wounded darling, calling her by the most endearing names and begging her to live for his sake.

The form of the girl was borne into the house, and a doctor from Waco, who was fortunately there, attending a cowboy who was down with the break-bone fever, was called in.

"Is she dead, doctor?" asked Bob in tones of the most pitiable agony.

"No, only stunned. Ball struck a corset steel and glanced off. She will be all right soon, but it was a close call, my boy, and she undoubtedly saved your life."

Cassie soon recovered consciousness, and with joy in his every tone Bob confessed what a fool he had been and begged for forgiveness. Of course it was the marriage must take place just as soon as she became able to stand before the minister.

"And can I wear my corset, dear?" she coyly asked.

"Wear what saved yo' fur me? Cassie, I wouldn't have yo' throw that away for a million dollars. Yo' kin wear two of 'em if yo' want to, an' if yo' say so I'll wear one myself."—New York Telegram.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Jewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 2d N. Y. Cavalry and of the 13th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies."—Solomon Jewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1892.

These remedies are sold by all druggists, on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. They positively contain neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

to the dyspeptic. The world is upside down; the times are out of joint; he's ready to turn his back upon his best friend.

Now, the thing that oftenest is wrong with dyspeptics, is their choice of a remedy. There are drugs and medicines on the one hand—the Carlsbad Sprudel on the other. They can't both be right; there's too much difference in their methods and in their results.

Carlsbad—the waters of the Sprudel Spring at Carlsbad have been curing dyspeptics for hundreds of years. Curing them. No remedy in the world has been so thoroughly tried and proved, in all digestive disorders, stomach troubles, lack of appetite, or perverted nutrition. Add a little of the genuine Carlsbad Sprudel Salt to the first tumblerful of the water, if you desire to increase its purgative action.

Do not be imposed upon by unscrupulous dealers who will sell you a mixture of Seidlitz Powder or Glauber Salt as "Improved Carlsbad Salt" or "Artificial Carlsbad Salt," "German Salt," or other names. Insist upon the genuine article, which must have the signature of "EISNER & MENDELSON Co., Sole Agents, New York," on every bottle.

MADAGASCAR HAS A POPULAR QUEEN.

THE WOMAN WHO IS FIGHTING FRENCH AGGRESSION.

She is Popular with Her People—The Hova Men Would Follow Her to Death—The United States Deeply Interested in the Conflict.

AMONG THE HIGHLANDS of Madagascar live a brave and patriotic people who are preparing now to fight for their liberties. They are the Hovas, who rule the island from their uplands in the center of the country.

One day last spring at a native celebration graced by the presence of the Hova queen, the prime minister, her husband, said in an eloquent speech: "The queen of Madagascar and her subjects will never consent to surrender the independence of their island. No other flag than your majesty's shall ever float over this people."

The president of France was present and heard these words. They were meant for his ear. His bearing toward the native government and the people has not pleased the Hovas. Today an envoy of France, M. Le Myre de Vilers, is on the island with an ultimatum which he will present to the Hova queen. Nobody in France expects that the Malagasy will accept its terms. If they include the extraordinary demands which, according to the French press, M. de Vilers has been instructed to make, there will be war. The Malagasy will never permit the French to establish a protectorate over the island while they have strength to fight.

An American gentleman has recently arrived in this country who has probably a larger acquaintance with the affairs of Madagascar than any other person in this country. He is Ethelbert G. Woodford, a mining engineer and state inspector of mines in the Africa republic. In the course of his work he lived for some time at Antananarivo, the capital, where he made the acquaintance of the prime minister and other members of the government. He also had opportunities to meet hosts of the Europeans engaged in enterprises in Madagascar. There was already great tension in the relations of France and the Hovas, and Mr. Woodford thoroughly studied the situation which now threatens to involve the island in war. Mr. Woodford was requested to give his views on the present troubles and the causes that have led to them.

"You know," he said, "that Madagascar is the fourth largest island in the world. It has large mineral and agricultural wealth, and many years ago the French dreamed of taking this island and creating an empire in the Indian ocean. Just fifty years ago the French and British, when Madagascar had not made her present advance in civilization, seized the port of Tamatave for some wrong they thought the Hovas had done. That trouble was soon over, and the English in time became the fast friends of the Malagasy, but the natives have never liked the French. It has been the sorrow of their political history for the past half century that the French have forced themselves so much upon them. They have struggled long to ward off French encroachment and at the same time to maintain their independence and keep the peace."

$10,000 WORTH OF Clothing 48c on the Dollar.

MAY BE A MOB.

The Following Letter Speaks For Itself.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 20, 1894.
MR. ED. J. SMITH, JANESVILLE, Wis., DEAR ED:—We have just lately purchased the entire production of a well-known fine clothing manufacturer in New York. The total purchase amounts to about $100,000. I have selected from the lot about $10,000 worth of men's, boys' and children's suits and overcoats for the Janesville store. Now, Ed., this is not a bankrupt stock of old, refused clothing, but they are all fine, new, fresh goods, made within the past 35 days, but owing to the late tailors' strike in New York city, these goods were delayed in the making until too late to be put on the wholesale market for the season. In consideration of this fact we purchased the entire production for 48 cents on the dollar and if you want this lot of clothing sent to you, you will be enabled to give the people of Janesville and Rock county a benefit in the way of fine, reliable clothing at prices never before heard of in the history of the state. I wish you to place them on sale at once and close the entire lot during the next thirty days. Would advertise them thoroughly, and at the prices you can name on these goods, you will come near selling all the clothing sold in town during the sale. Have sent you the twenty-five black freize ulsters. Also the thirty-five men's black and blue chevrons to sell at $10. Weather here cold; five below zero yesterday morning. Business very good. With kind regards.
Yours very truly, T. J. ZIEGLER,
Manager Browning, King & Co.

Sale Will Open Monday Morning November 26.

: : : Must Be Closed Out In Thirty Days.
: : : NO BANKRUPT STOCK.

All new TAILOR MADE CLOTHING made within the last 35 days. Late Tailors' Strike in New York City. T. J. Zeigler bought $100,000 worth at 48c on the dollar. Lot 3033--15 Men's long cut Cassimere Ulsters, Quilted shoulders, half lined with same kind of goods as outside, would be cheap at $7, just to get the ball rolling..... $3.75

Lot 3031--12 Brown Beaver Overcoats, cut long, wide v vt collar, Italian lined satin sleeves lining, all sizes, worth $12.50, just to open up the ball..... 7.50

Lot 3042 & 3043--15 Black and Blue Beaver Ulsters, cut extra long, wide military collar, actually worth and have been selling in Chicago for $15. Just to start the ball rolling..... $7.75
